

Notice: 4th Customs Salon to be held on Sept 15

Topic: China's International Trade Single Window and Digital Trade

With the rapid development of global economic integration and international logistics industries, the construction of "single window" for international trade has been strongly advocated by many international organizations. At present, there more than 70 economies to implement the "single window" globally. Chinese government attaches great importance to the construction of "single window", and in December 2016, the standard version of China's international trade single window was launched, which has been developed to cover 26 business types of customs clearance services, and has realized the functional characteristics of "one point access, one submission, one inspection, one key tracking and one stop processing".

For the issue, this Customs Salon will make a comprehensive introduction on China's International Trade Single Window and digital trade.
